Details about specific areas in which training can be offered (particular method, field of subspecialty – e.g. kidney transplantation, etc.) Our fields of subspecialty: Dutch Reference Center for Melanoma Basal Cell Carcinoma Merkel Cell Carcinoma Genodermatoses MOHS Surgery Cutaneous Lymphoma Participation in daily practice: • Department of Pathology: o 2 hours of practical macroscopic work per day plus 2 hours of microscopic observation per day. o Participation in the histological practice of MOHS surgery. o Participation in research project of your choice as presented in our Department. o Participation in molecular diagnostics of Dermatopathology. The training in Molecular Dermatopathology: 2 weeks, equivalent to 40 + 40 hours. In both instances (immunohistochemistry and molecular pathology) the modules will include training in standardization of preanalytic procedures and quality control. • Department of Dermatology: o Clinical visitations in the Department of Dermatology. o MOHS Surgery

5. Number of positions offered each year, expected duration of the training. Two fellows can be hosted per year, for a minimum duration of 2 months and maximum duration of 6 months each. The visit can be extended to 12 months in case the fellow is involved in a translational research project. Specific periods of the year when the visit may be realized: starting in each 2nd and 4th trimester of the year. The exact dates will be defined by direct contact
